Silage harvest will begin on many farms this week. While harvesting why not take silage samples before ensiling. Samples should come from as many fields as necessary to get a good measure of quality. This information is essential if an effective feeding program is to be used during the winter months.

Plastic bread bags are useful for collecting silage samples.

Wheat seeding time is just around the corner. 1975 registered the worst disaster from wheat scab in many years. I want to outline briefly some of the problems and possible solutions to this problem.

The fungas can cause seedling blight, crown rot and head blight. Although losses do result from the seedling blight and crown rot phases, the head blight is the most destructive.

None of the commercial varieties of small grains are resistant to scab. Any variety that is in the flowering to soft dough stage of maturity when warm humid weather occurs may be infected by scab. The same variety of wheat may be infected with scab when planted on one date but not infected when planted on another date.

A slight increase in potential scab problems in small grains may be attributed to an increase in the use of cultural practices which leave corn stalks or small grain stubble on the top of the soil. Corn ears and stalks are attacked by the same scab fungus that attacks small grains; therefore the fungus is carried over from growing season to growing season when corn or small grains stubble is left on the soil surface. Crop rotation and plow down or crop residue may aid in control of this disease. More scab on wheat is likely when grown following corn without plowing or next to a continuous no-till field of corn.

There are no known approved chemical methods which will control the disease.

If seed wheat was saved from a field which had even a low degree of scab infection, it should be thoroughly cleaned and treated before planting. Seed treatment will prevent the seedling blight caused by the scab fungus; however it will not control head blight.

A. B. Carson, Jr. lost 9 cows and 7 calves from lightning last Friday evening. All farm fences should be well grounded to lessen the chance of lightning injury. When cattle are under a tree like Carson's there's little that one can do to prevent the loss.

There have been a number of definitions similar to the following floating around for years - thought you might enjoy these.

Socialism - you have two cows, and you give one to your neighbor.

Communism - you have two cows, the government takes both of them and gives you the milk.

Facism - you have the two cows, the government takes both of them and sells you the milk.

Nazism - you have two cows, the government takes both and shoots you.

Bureaucracy - you have two cows, the government takes both of them, shoots one, milks the other and pours the milk down the drain.

Capitalism - you have two cows - you sell one of them and buy a bull

Cattle Fed Gain On Grass

Grain prices for the past two years have renewed interest in fattening cattle on forage with a minimum amount of grain supplement.

Appomattox County cattlemen have the opportunity of using corn silage and high quality grass-clover pastures to produce high quality finished beef.

Carter Martin had 15 steers and 14 heifers that were born between January and March 1974. These cattle were weaned in mid-October at about 500 lbs. average weight. After weaning, they were fed 5 lbs. per day corn cob meal and grass-clover hay free choice until the first of January. When the silo was opened they were fed free choice corn silage and hay. This ration was continued until April 15 when they were turned on grass-clover pasture and returned to corn cob meal + molasses starting out at 5 lbs. per day and reaching 13 lbs. per day before slaughter.

On June 20 the heavier weight cattle were marketed. Two heifers averaged 905 lbs. with an ADG of 1.84 lbs. and brought 43c per pound. Five steers weighed 1018 pounds with an ADG of 2.09; two steers brought 47.75c and three 45.50c per pound.

Another marketing was made on July 22; four heifers averaged 950 lbs. and brought 38c and four steers averaging 995 lbs. brought 40c per pound.

Martin says that grass growth determined the amount of grain that was consumed. These cattle were treated with Co-Tal for grub control at weaning.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Peters, of Pamplin, are proud to announce the birth of a son, Douglas Fredrick Lee, born August 6, 1975 at Virginia Baptist Hospital.

They are also the parents of Allison and Timothy.

Mrs. Peters is the former Linda Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Price of Pamplin.

DICKERSON REUNION

The annual reunion of the family of the late B. D. Dickerson will not be held on Labor Day week end as usual due to homecoming at Rocks Baptist Church on the following Sunday, Sept. 7. This being the home church of the original Dickerson family, it was thought would be an other and extra homecoming.

Feeding tests at Virginia Tech using bluegrass - clover pasture and ground shelled corn with 10% animal fat have also given good growth rates. Animal fat or salt can be used to restrict grain intake.

Cattle on this ration at Virginia Tech weighed 605 pounds on May 3 utilized .5 acres of pasture per head until July 10 and one acre thereafter and slaughtered October 22 at a weight of 1015 pounds. These cattle had an ADG of 2.44 lbs.

There are many Appomattox cattlemen that can utilize home grown grain and forage to maximize beef cattle returning, J. A. Smith, Extension Agent, reported.

are knee length or longer, bib and suspender skirts. Tops are generally wider and looser. Mock twin sweater sets and t-shirts with scarves are newsy.

Emphasizing the importance of tops, fall collections feature different styles to wear with solid slacks or dirndle skirts. Included are embroidered mock turtlenecks and jacket sweaters featuring neckline detail, belts, cuffs, pockets and matching mufflers.

Dresses are more feminine, even in sportswear. Among them is a classic pinafore in a denim look with ruffles. A novelty story print shows up in a flared skirt and ribbed top. The chemise is seen in soft, laundry-loving polyester/cotton with a neckline bow.

Casual cuts include the big shirt dress in woven fabrics such as flannelette, gauze or suede polyester. Adaptation of the BigLook translates into a corduroy popover top with drop shoulder, very wide cuffs and sleeves and top stitching for accent. Matching pants are also top-stitched and feature wider flare legs and pockets.

Jumpers are very much in evidence, often paired with turtleneck tops. Polyester and acrylic blends includes a French school girl look and others in wrap-around versions and embroidered styles.

Tops News
By Barbara Mayberry

Remember the time you went on that "crash" diet and the pounds just seemed to melt away? It was really thrilling, wasn't it? But then you started to get very irritated at any little thing, you suddenly didn't have any energy, maybe you even felt dizzy at times - but even worse, those unwanted pounds began to add up again. Why? Because you were following a nutritionally unbalanced diet, which is not only unsafe and unnecessary, it just doesn't work for the majority of us poor dieters! Counting calories and following a sensible diet plan is the only "miracle" answer for any of us.

The Queen for the Month of June was Rita Page. Runner-up was Nancy Litchford. Congratulations, girls, we know it wasn't easy to lose those pounds!

We Had a tie for the Month of July! Lois Smith was the queen, and our only male member in the Appomattox Chapter of TOPS, Calvin McGahuey, was the King! TOPS is very proud of these two members!

At the August 18 TOPS meeting, Co-Leader, Bobbie Mullins, opened the meeting, and then Weight Recorder, Thelma Knight, read an article, "How Much Is Too Much". TOPS members agreed that it is smart to get rid of those excess pounds as soon as you get as little as five pounds overweight, rather than face an ever growing problem!

Tops Tip For The Week is to count every calorie. Don't overlook that "little" snack you had while watching TV. A cupful of cashew nuts doesn't seem worth thinking about, yet they represent 785 calories!

The next TOPS meeting will take place on Aug., 1975 at the Plaza Farmer's National Bank.
